Co-Supervisor: Ms L. H. Nemathaga
Supervisor: Prof. L. B. Khoza

UNIVERSITY OF VENDA

At the

Department of Advanced Nursing Sciences

In the

MAGISTER CURATIONIS (MCUR)

Degree of

Submitted in fulfilment of the requirements for the

Mulelu Virginia (Student No 9601436)

By

PROVINCE
THE TULUMELA MUNICIPALITY OF THE KHUME DISTRICT IN LIMPOPO THE EXPERIENCES OF TEENAGE PREGNANCY BY TEENAGE MOTHERS IN perceptions and experiences of teenage mothers. The study population comprised experiences by the teenage mothers.

Methods: The study used a qualitative design to explore and describe the experiences, and to identify and describe the factors that led to the pregnancy, as well as

Study Objectives: To explore and describe the experiences of teenage mothers

The Yhume district, Limpopo Province: The experience of pregnancy by teenage mothers in the Thulamela municipal of Limpopo. The purpose of this study was to understand the incidence of pregnancy, the termination of pregnancies, the incidence of available, like family planning and the termination of pregnancies, the incidence of unplanned pregnancies, and the incidence of teenage pregnancy. This may lead to denial, parental rejection and the rejection of an unwanted child. It is not sufficiently emotionally mature to take care of another child. Still being a child herself, she is not sufficiently emotionally mature to be a scholar, with plans for the future and unexplored relationships. Still being a child herself, she is not sufficiently emotionally mature to be a scholar, with plans for the future and unexplored relationships. The result of sexual abuse of incest, both of which have emotional scars. Theresult of sexual abuse of incest, both of which have emotional scars. The result of sexual abuse of incest, both of which have emotional scars.

Abstract

Co-Supervisor: Ms. L. H. Nemathega

Supervisor: Prof. L. B. Khaz@a

Department: Advanced Nursing Sciences

Degree: Master of Nursing

Student: No. 960136

Student: Muluvi Virginia

Thulamela Municipal of the Yhume District in the Limpopo Province:

Experiences of Teenage Pregnancy by Teenage Mothers in the Thulamela Municipal of the Yhume District in the Limpopo Province:

Thulamela Municipal of the Yhume District in the Limpopo Province:
families, in order to find solutions to issues surrounding teenage pregnancies.

The study highlighted the importance of coordinating services to teenage mothers with the knowledge and skills they required to make informed choices about their future. The study showed that the teenagers' providers, community leaders, government officials, nongovernmental organizations, and educational institutions worked together to address the problems faced by teenage mothers. The study recommended that the government, community leaders, and providers work together to empower teenage mothers to make informed choices about pregnancy.

Study Findings: Five major themes and sub-themes emerged. The findings of the study are discussed around the perceptions of the experience of pregnancy by the study population. The study team also recommended that all participants, especially teenagers, be educated and made aware of the consequences of teenage pregnancy.

Data collection was through in-depth interviews with teenagers who met the criteria of the study. A different purposeful sampling technique was used to obtain a sample of teenagers from each of the five villages, and then a snowballing sampling technique was used to identify the 30 participants who met the criteria of the study. A different purposeful sampling technique was used to obtain a sample of teenage mothers from each village.