ABSTRACT

The thesis provides some new insights into the analysis of poetry, while also devising a practical method for the analysis of themes and subject matter. Although the books understudy are written in different times by different authors, but what strikes our minds is that they share some common themes which amongst others include death, love, marriage, protest, politics, praises, education, health, religion and life in general.

The authors also employ a number of poetic features and devices and expressions like simile, theme, style, hyperbole, protest poetry, enjambment, rhetorical questions, symbolism, metaphor and personification that determine amongst others, the form and imagery of the poetry. These devices are also used to add clarity to the meaning of poetry.
